

NB: subgroups with a n-size less than 50 (<50) are not shown on these cross-tabs. We choose not to display N<50 subgroups because the sample is too small to have statistical significance. We did, however, take samples of these subgroups for representational and weighting purposes to accurately reflect the electorate makeup. Some values may not add up to 100 due to rounding.

An estimated one million New York tenants could not afford to pay their rent in May because of the economic impact of the coronavirus. Last week the state legislature passed a bill that will grant relief to landlords without added new protections for tenants. Many immigrants, people with gig economy jobs like Uber and families earning more than 80% of the middle income will not be able to apply. Do you believe that the legislature should now go further and cancel rent for all New York tenants affected by the current crisis?
