

From January 6 to January 7, 2021, Data for Progress conducted a survey of 1156 likely voters nationally using web panel respondents. The sample was weighted to be representative of likely voters by age, gender, education, race, and voting history. The survey was conducted in English. The margin of error is ±2.9 percentage points.

NB: subgroups with a n-size less than 50 (<50) are not shown on these cross-tabs. We choose not to display N<50 subgroups because the sample is too small to have statistical significance. We did, however, take samples of these subgroups for representational and weighting purposes to accurately reflect the electorate makeup. Some values may not add up to 100 due to rounding.

[1] President-elect Joe Biden could take executive action on a couple different policy areas, including rejoining the Paris Climate Agreement and forgiving federal student debt. By taking executive action, Biden could potentially implement some policy changes more swiftly than if Congress had to approve them.

When thinking about this, which statement comes closer to your view, even if neither is exactly right?
