

From October 8 to 12, 2021, Data for Progress conducted a survey of 1,226 likely voters nationally using web panel respondents. The sample was weighted to be representative of likely voters by age, gender, education, race, and voting history. The survey was conducted in English. The margin of error is ±3 percentage points.

N=1,226 unless otherwise specified. Some values may not add up to 100 due to rounding.

[10] The Build Back Better plan invests in improving the quality and lowering the cost of long-term care for seniors and people with disabilities.

Some lawmakers in Congress want this provision removed from the Build Back Better plan because they argue the government is spending too much money.

Other lawmakers in Congress want this provision to remain in the Build Back Better plan because they argue that families are going broke trying to provide care to loved ones.

Knowing what you know now, do you think the investments in long-term care for seniors and people with disabilities should remain in the Build Back Better plan, or should they be removed?
