

From February 19 to February 22, 2021, Data for Progress conducted a survey of 1527 likely voters nationally using web panel respondents. The sample was weighted to be representative of likely voters by age, gender, education, race, and voting history. The survey was conducted in English. The margin of error is ±3 percentage points.

NB: subgroups with a n-size less than 50 (<50) are not shown on these cross-tabs. We choose not to display N<50 subgroups because the sample is too small to have statistical significance. We did, however, take samples of these subgroups for representational and weighting purposes to accurately reflect the electorate makeup. Some values may not add up to 100 due to rounding.

[1] When thinking about pandemic relief, what is more important to you: getting Americans the help they need or passing a bill with bipartisan support?

| We should pass a $1.9 trillion pandemic relief bill as soon as possible that would fund vaccinations, provide stimulus $1,400 stimulus checks for most Americans, expand unemployment benefits, and raise the minimum wage. Nearly half a million Americans have died, 10 million jobs have been lost and countless small businesses closed. The time for bold action is now. | 62 | 80 | 56 | 47 | 64 | 61 | 61 | 63 | 63 | 62 | 77 | 69 | 60 | 70 | 57 | 60 |
| We should pass a $600 billion stimulus that is bipartisan. Trillions have already been spent on pandemic relief and a smaller bill that is more targeted will get people the help they need for the next few months. Finding a compromise deal is what matters now. Republicans and Democrats must come together on this. | 31 | 14 | 37 | 47 | 28 | 35 | 30 | 32 | 30 | 33 | 16 | 24 | 34 | 25 | 38 | 29 |
