

DATA FOR PROGRESS

From March 12 to 17, 2021, Data for Progress conducted a survey of 681 likely voters in West Virginia using SMS and web panel respondents. The sample was weighted to be representative of likely voters by age, gender, education, race, and voting history. The survey was conducted in English. The margin of error is ±4 percentage points.

N=681 unless otherwise specified. Some values may not add up to 100 due to rounding.

Below are some arguments made both for and against this proposal. For each, say whether or not you find them convincing. -- It is time to modernize how elections are run in this country. This proposal would clean up problems we've seen with our country's voting system, getting all the states on the same page. We can avoid waiting for weeks to know who the winner is while conspiracy theories are allowed to spread.
