

DATA FOR PROGRESS

From May 3 to 4, 2022, Data for Progress conducted a survey of 1,236 likely voters nationally using web panel respondents. The sample was weighted to be representative of likely voters by age, gender, education, race, and voting history. The survey was conducted in English. The margin of error is ± 3 percentage points.

NB: subgroups with a n-size less than 50 (<50) are not shown on these cross-tabs. We choose not to display N<50 subgroups because the sample is too small to have statistical significance. We did, however, take samples of these subgroups for representational and weighting purposes to accurately reflect the electorate makeup. Some values may not add up to 100 due to rounding.

N=1,236 unless otherwise specified.

[3] A draft opinion memo on abortion was recently released from the Supreme Court.

This opinion states that a majority of Supreme Court justices support overturning Roe v. Wade, the 1973 ruling that guarantees the right to an abortion under the constitution. If Roe v. Wade is overturned, it would allow states to ban abortion.

Knowing what you know now, how concerned or not concerned are you that the Supreme Court will issue an official decision overturning Roe v. Wade?
