

DATA FOR PROGRESS

From July 22 to 29, 2022, Data for Progress conducted a survey of 631 likely voters in Arizona using web panel respondents. The sample was weighted to be representative of likely voters by age, gender, education, race, and voting history. The survey was conducted in English. The margin of error is ± 4 percentage points.

NB: subgroups with a n-size less than 50 (<50) are not shown on these cross-tabs. We choose not to display N<50 subgroups because the sample is too small to have statistical significance. We did, however, take samples of these subgroups for representational and weighting purposes to accurately reflect the electorate makeup. Some values may not add up to 100 due to rounding.

N=631 unless otherwise specified.

[18] After the 2020 presidential election, Arizona state Senate Republicans, many of whom believed that voter fraud led to Joe Biden winning the state, initiated an audit of the election in Maricopa County after a previous independent audit found that no fraud occurred.

This second audit confirmed that no fraud had occurred and that Joe Biden fairly won the state.

Do you think Arizona's Republican-led audit of the 2020 election was a good thing or a bad thing for the integrity and trust of elections in Arizona?
