

From September 16 to 19, 2022, Data for Progress conducted a survey of 1,215 likely voters nationally using web panel respondents. The sample was weighted to be representative of likely voters by age, gender, education, race, and voting history. The survey was conducted in English. The margin of error is ±3 percentage points.

NB: subgroups with a n-size less than 50 (<50) are not shown on these cross-tabs. We choose not to display N<50 subgroups because the sample is too small to have statistical significance. We did, however, take samples of these subgroups for representational and weighting purposes to accurately reflect the electorate makeup. Some values may not add up to 100 due to rounding.

N=1,215 unless otherwise specified.

[28] Since Russia invaded Ukraine in early 2022, the United States has responded by pledging over $50 billion to support Ukraine's war effort and has led a coalition of nations to enact economic sanctions against Russia.

To what extent do you think the war in Ukraine has impacted you financially?

[30] U.S. Secretary of State Anthony Blinken and Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov have spoken once since Russia's invasion in February. These are the top foreign policy officials in their respective countries and they are responsible for leading communications with other governments.

[33] Some lawmakers have proposed that the U.S. should support diplomatic negotiations to end the war in Ukraine quickly, as long as an agreement could be found that preserves Ukrainian independence.

Advocates of diplomacy believe negotiations will prevent further loss of life, that it will be impossible to end the war by military means alone without great risks, and that we can seek compromises with Russia which preserve Ukrainian independence.

Opponents of negotiations say that reaching a diplomatic solution through compromise would not punish Russia enough for its aggression, and that it is worth extending the war for as long as it takes to try to fully defeat Russia.

Knowing what you know now, would you say you support or oppose the U.S. engaging in negotiations to try to end the war in Ukraine quickly?
