페 DATA FOR PROGRESS

From July 26 to August 2, 2023, Data for Progress conducted a survey of 1,748 registered voters in Arizona using SMS and web panel respondents, with oversamples in Arizona's 1st and 6th Congressional Districts. The sample was weighted to be representative of registered voters by age, gender, education, race, geography, and voting history. The survey was conducted in English. The margin of error is $\pm 2$ percentage points.

NB: subgroups with a n-size less than $50(<50)$ are not shown on these cross-tabs. We choose not to display $\mathrm{N}<50$ subgroups because the sample is too small to have statistical significance. We did, however, take samples of these subgroups for representational and weighting purposes to accurately reflect the electorate makeup. Some values may not add up to 100 due to rounding.
$\mathrm{N}=1,748$ unless otherwise specified.

[7] On November 5th, 2024, there will be a general election for U.S. President, the U.S. Senate, U.S. House of Representatives, and other offices.

In addition to these races, there will also be state and local ballot measures.

As mentioned in the previous question, some groups are proposing to include a ballot measure that would amend the Arizona state constitution to protect abortion rights.

Having learned more about this ballot measure, and the state of abortion rights in Arizona, how likely are you to vote in this election?

[10] In the U.S. Senate, the filibuster is a rule that allows any Senator to indefinitely block legislation, unless at least 60 of 100 Senators agree to move forward to a vote, allowing a minority of Senators to block popular legislation. The Senate can eliminate the filibuster at any time to allow a bill to pass with a simple majority ( 51 votes).

Members of the Senate are considering codifying Roe v. Wade, which would protect the right to abortion in every state under federal law. Some members of the Senate are considering eliminating the filibuster to allow a bill codifying Roe $v$. Wade to pass with a simple majority of votes.

Would you be more or less likely to vote for a candidate for the U.S. Senate who supports eliminating the filibuster to codify Roe v. Wade into law with a simple majority?
