

DATA FOR PROGRESS

From October 17 to 23, 2025, Data for Progress conducted a survey of 823 likely voters in Alaska using SMS and web panel respondents. The sample was weighted to be representative of likely voters by age, gender, education, race, geography, and recalled vote. The survey was conducted in English. The margin of error associated with the sample size is ±3 percentage points. Results for subgroups of the sample are subject to increased margins of error. Partisanship reflected in tabulations is based on self-identified party affiliation, not partisan registration. For more information please visit dataforprogress.org/our-methodology.

NB: subgroups with a n-size less than 40 (<40) are not shown on these cross-tabs. We choose not to display N<40 subgroups because the sample is too small to have statistical significance. We did, however, take samples of these subgroups for representational and weighting purposes to accurately reflect the electorate makeup. Some values may not add up to 100 due to rounding.

N=823 unless otherwise specified.

[35] Alaska expanded Medicaid in 2015, allowing more low-income adults to get health coverage through the federal Affordable Care Act. The state and federal governments share the cost of paying for this coverage.

Do you support or oppose Medicaid expansion?

[37] Some Alaskans who buy health insurance now receive "enhanced premium tax credits" from the federal government. These credits reduce what people pay out of pocket. These tax credits are set to expire at the end of the year. If these tax credits expire, some Alaskans could see their health insurance premiums double or more.

When thinking about these tax credits, which of the following statements comes closest to your view, even if neither is exactly right?
