

From June 6 to 8, 2025, Data for Progress conducted a survey of 1,155 U.S. likely voters nationally using web panel respondents. The sample was weighted to be representative of likely voters by age, gender, education, race, geography, and recalled presidential vote. The survey was conducted in English. The margin of error associated with the sample size is  $\pm 3$  percentage points. Results for subgroups of the sample are subject to increased margins of error. Partisanship reflected in tabulations is based on self-identified party affiliation, not partisan registration. For more information please visit dataforprogress.org/our-methodology.

NB: subgroups with a n-size less than 50 (<50) are not shown on these cross-tabs. We choose not to display N<50 subgroups because the sample is too small to have statistical significance. We did, however, take samples of these subgroups for representational and weighting purposes to accurately reflect the electorate makeup. Some values may not add up to 100 due to rounding.

N=1,155 unless otherwise specified.

[2] As you may know, Republicans in the U.S. House of Representatives recently passed a bill that would do the following:

- Cut Medicaid and food stamps
- Eliminate tax incentives for clean energy projects
- Increase border security
- Permanently extend all tax cuts in the 2017 Trump tax law, including those for the wealthy
- Temporarily eliminate taxes on tips and overtime

From what you know about the bill, do you think it will raise or lower costs for your household?
